

Vertical Growing Spaces

Trellises, fences, tepees, wire mesh frames, netting on frames, and circular wire enclosures make good structures to grow vegetables, fruits, and flowers vertically where physically challenged persons can have easy access to them. They are also a good way to maximize the use of limited growing areas. Figure 2 shows an easy to build, free standing trellis.

Figure 2